Good with people, Interested in fish?

Sign up to be a volunteer naturalist on the Cedar River this fall! Volunteer naturalists will receive training from watershed and fish experts before spending three weekend days making riverside presentations to the public about the Cedar River and its salmon run.

Training

Training is scheduled for three weekday evenings (September 16, 23, 30) and two Saturdays (September 25 and October 9). Training sessions will prepare volunteer naturalists to talk about the human and natural history of the Cedar River, including: salmon and their life-cycle and habitat needs, Cedar River wildlife, human impacts on salmon, and what we can do to protect salmon. Most of the trainings will be held in the Renton area, with one training at the Seattle Aquarium.

On Duty Days

Once trained, volunteers commit to work in teams at one of the five sites along the Cedar River: Renton Library, Cedar River Park, Riverview Park, Cavanaugh Pond and Landsburg Park. Each team will work three of the six event days: October 16, 17, 23, 24, 30, 31.

Interested?

Interested volunteers will be sent an application to complete and return. Applicants will be notified in early September.
